HOW TO START

Launching a new business segment and leading it to profitability is an exciting challenge. In order to ensure the most successful market launch possible, we provide you with some helpful tips for the initial MARKET PENETRATION.

Make LINEAR known in your market

Use all your communications to announce the new partnership and showcase the solution now available for MEP designers. The most common channels are:

- ✓ Your website
- ✓ Social Media
- ✓ Newsletter
- ✓ Your employees (cold call)
- ✓ Exhibitions and events
- ✓ Press releases and advertising

Creation of a LINEAR sales team

Create a sales process with LINEAR-trained salespeople. If you have sales people who already have experience with Autodesk solutions, make them LINEAR experts.

Train the trainer

Make use of the LINEAR “Train the trainer” program to generate additional revenue from the partnership. After successful implementation, you can offer support and training.

Create a lead generation strategy

Use whitepapers, free trial, and consulting offers to generate leads.

Create starter offers

Make use of new customer discounts on individual modules for easier customer acquisition. After the first sale, you can more easily sell additional program modules.

Additional sales to Autodesk customers

If you have MEP customers who are already using Autodesk products, give them an introduction to LINEAR and convince them to buy the solution in addition.

Publish success stories

Once you’ve made your first sales, use those customers to persuade other prospects. Project reports or interviews with satisfied customers are the best advertising.
